

SafeWorks Employees Make Record-Breaking Food Donation to Northwest Harvest

November 16, 2012

SEATTLE – SafeWorks, LLC announces a record-setting year for its annual employee food drive. 3,600 lbs of food were collected and delivered to Northwest Harvest, the Seattle-based non-profit food bank distributor.

As a tribute to SafeWorks’ construction equipment product line, this year’s month-long food drive concluded with ‘Canstruction’ – a friendly competition among department teams to construct structures using the donated food items. A replica of the U.S. Treasury building, a nutrition pyramid, a 22-ft long train complete with caboose, and super hero ‘Captain Cody Strikes Out at Hunger’ highlighted the competition.

“November is traditionally a time to reflect on the freedoms and blessings that are abundant in our lives,” said Kim McCall, Human Resource Manager. “It is also an ideal opportunity to help those in our midst who are less fortunate. Our team showed genuine enthusiasm and generosity throughout this annual campaign to help Northwest Harvest feed those in our community. Our employees have demonstrated how a small team of people can make a big impact, and it is our hope that other organizations will continue to do the same.”

Northwest Harvest provides a network of more than 350 food banks, meal programs and high-need schools throughout Washington state with over 1.7 million meals every month. To learn more about donating to Northwest Harvest, visit www.northwestharvest.org.
